

Chapter 1 Identification Standards

Introduction: Interagency Early Intervention Committees (IEIC)

Every child who has a hearing impairment, visual disability, speech or language impairment, physical disabilities, other health impairment, cognitive disability, emotional/behavioral disorder, specific learning disability, autism, traumatic brain injury, multiple disabilities, or deaf/blind disability and needs special instruction and services, is a child with a disability. Children under age three, and at local district discretion from age three to age seven, who need special instruction and services because the child has a substantial delay or has an identifiable physical or mental condition known to hinder normal development is a child with a disability.

Districts, in cooperation with the health and human services agencies located in the counties in which the district is located, have established Interagency Early Intervention Committees (IEICs) for children with disabilities under age five and their families. Districts and agencies have also established an interagency agreement that outlines the roles and responsibilities of each of the agencies and encourages the use of a standardized written plan for children with disabilities ages 3 to 21.

IEIC Committees include the following representatives:

- local, education and county human services agencies
- county boards
- school boards
- early childhood family education programs
- Head Start
- parents of young children with disabilities under age 12
- child care resource and referral agencies
- school readiness programs
- current services providers
- representatives from other private or public agencies

The IEIC is responsible for developing and implementing interagency policies and procedures concerning the following ongoing duties:

1. Developing public awareness systems designed to inform potential recipient families of available programs and services.
2. Implementing interagency child find systems designed to actively seek out, identify, and refer infants and young children with, or at risk of, disabilities and their families. These systems are nondiscriminatory and are designed to identify persons with disabilities beginning at birth, pupils with disabilities attending public and nonpublic schools, and pupils with disabilities who are of school age and are not attending any school.
3. Developing procedures for receiving referrals from parents, physicians, private and public programs, and health and human services agencies.

Procedures for identifying Early Childhood Public/Nonpublic Children and School Age Nonpublic and Private Students

School districts are required to develop systems to identify persons with disabilities beginning at birth, students with disabilities attending school, both public and nonpublic, and students with disabilities of school age who are not attending any school. The Districts have developed identification systems in accordance with requirements of nondiscrimination.

Early Childhood Child Find

Public Awareness

Interagency Early Intervention Committees develop public awareness activities and programs that reach all primary referral sources and consider strategies specific to un-served or underserved segments of the local population. Activities and programs may include the development of brochures and pamphlets, public service announcements, training for primary referral sources, etc. The effectiveness of the Public Awareness system will be evaluated through data provided annually on the ECSE District Data Profile.

Early Childhood Special Education Child Find

The Early Childhood Special Education (ECSE) programs operating within HVED are committed to the efficient and appropriate identification of children eligible to receive early intervention services. Districts recognize the importance of, and are active contributors to interagency Child Find systems. It is the practice of ECSE programs to accept referrals from parents, local and regional medical centers, and interagency partners as well as from the following screening efforts working within each district:

- Child and Teen Checkups
- Early Childhood Screening
- Head Start Health and Developmental Screening

Each ECSE program follows procedures established by their Interagency Early Intervention Committee (IEIC) within the student's county of residence for coordinating the involvement of interagency service providers to meet the comprehensive needs of young children with disabilities and their families.

Procedures for receiving referrals

The Interagency Central Referral Teams (CRT) receive referrals from a variety of sources such as parents, physicians, private and public programs, and health and human services agencies. The central point of intake in Hiawatha Valley Education District is the HVED Cluster Director of Special Education. A screening and possible evaluation is initiated following the referral.

Nonpublic and Private School Child Find

Nonpublic school child find procedures

Informational letters are sent to private schools located within district borders and to parents engaged in home-schooling member districts. These letters describe the districts' obligation to all students suspected of having a disability, including those children who are not in school and those educated in nonpublic schools or in their homes.

Child Count of parentally-placed private school children with disabilities

After timely and meaningful consultation with representatives from private schools in the district, the local school district will determine the number of parentally-placed private school children with disabilities attending private schools. The child count will be used to determine the amount the district must spend on providing special education and related services to parentally-placed private school children with disabilities in the next subsequent fiscal year.

Homeless Child Find

Migrant and Homeless child find procedures

All children with disabilities residing in the district, including those who are homeless or who lack a fixed, regular and adequate nighttime residence, regardless of the severity of their disabilities and who are in need of special education and related services, will be identified, located and evaluated to determine appropriate services.

In HVED District communities, the homeless shelter social worker or other staff member contacts the school social worker to coordinate services with the local school district.

Little Kids – Big Questions!

Introduction: The Hiawatha Valley Education District Interagency Early Intervention Committee knows that if you have little kids in your life, you are bound to have some big questions now and then.

Questions like:

- My baby needs shots, but we really can't afford them. What can I do?
- Shouldn't my baby be rolling over by now?
- My 1-year old isn't walking yet. Should I be concerned?
- My grandson isn't using any words yet. Is this normal for his age?
- When is the next Early Childhood screening, and why should I take my child before he goes to Kindergarten? Is it really a law?

Parents, grandparents, daycare providers, and anyone concerned about a child, can find answers to questions like these and many others by calling Hiawatha Valley Education District at 1-507-452-1200. Staff can answer your questions and/or refer you to the appropriate agency to best meet the needs of your child and family. There are many options, including home visits or daycare visits that fit into your schedule or times that you bring your child to a center. Early Childhood Family Education, Head Start, and Early Childhood Special Education within the public school system are just a few of the services available with programs designed to meet the needs of birth to 5-year old children.

If you have big questions about little kids ... take the first step toward getting the answers and call 1-507-452-1200. Staff at the Hiawatha Valley Education District will assist you in helping your child to succeed. (Sponsored by Hiawatha Valley Education District IEIC)

Re: Identification of Students with Disabilities

The newly reauthorized Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act (IDEA) requires that public school districts consult with and provide certain information to the representatives of private schools and to the representatives of parents of parentally-placed private school students. Toward that end, HVED is providing you with this memorandum. Please post this memorandum in a prominent location in your schools so that parents may have access to this information as well. I have also enclosed a letter to parents of privately placed students. Please make copies and give these to the parents of your students along with a copy of the enclosed brochure. The brochure provides our child find process at a glance. It is also meant to be shared with parents.

If you would like to schedule a meeting with me and, if you choose, parent representatives to discuss the topics contained in this memorandum, please contact me at 507-452-1200. If you are a private school representative and you do not desire to meet to engage in further consultation regarding the topics in this memorandum, please sign the attached form and return it to me at the Hiawatha Valley Education District, 1410 Bundy Blvd. Winona, MN 55987 at your earliest convenience.

1. What is the child find process?

The school district is required to conduct activities to locate, identify, and evaluate all children with disabilities who are located within the geographic boundaries of the district. These activities are referred to as the “child find” process. The child find requirement applies to all children with disabilities who are attending private elementary and secondary schools, including religious schools. The child find process for private school children with disabilities must be comparable to the process used for children with disabilities in public schools.

IDEA requires that all children with disabilities be reevaluated at least once every three years. Therefore, the school district must initiate a reevaluation of a private school child with a disability at least once every three years. If the district cannot complete the reevaluation because the child’s parents refuse to cooperate, the district is not required to take further action.

The requirement to reevaluate also includes private school children with disabilities who are not receiving special education and related services from the district. Such children need to be reevaluated to determine whether they continue to have a disability for the private school child count and funding purposes.

2. How can parentally-placed private school children suspected of having a disability participate equitably in the child find process?

The parent, guardian, or teacher of a child who is attending a private school located within the school district may ask the district to evaluate the child to determine whether he or she has a disability and is in need of special education services under IDEA. Any child suspected of having a disability may be referred to the school district for an evaluation. If the school district evaluates a child and determines that the child is eligible for special education services, the district will provide the child with a free appropriate public education if the parents choose to enroll the child in the district's public schools. If parents choose to continue enrollment in the private school, the child may not receive direct special education services or the services may be limited.

3. How does the Hiawatha Valley Education District inform parents, teachers, and private school officials of the child find process?

In addition to disseminating this memorandum, once a year the district's Director of Special Education and/or a representative of the Director will meet with private school representatives to discuss the child find process. The district will provide a brochure that explains the child find process. Copies of the brochures will be provided to private school officials and will be available to parents, teachers, and private school officials.

4. What process will the school district use to consult with private school officials and parents of parentally placed children with disabilities and how will the process operate throughout the school year to ensure that parentally-placed private school children with disabilities who are identified through the child find process can meaningfully participate in special education?

The district will consult with private school officials and parents of parentally-placed children with disabilities on an annual basis by disseminating this memorandum and by asking the private school representative if he/she would like to meet with a public school representative. If a child is evaluated and found to be a child with a disability who is in need of special education services, the district will consider the child's individual needs and develop an Individual Services Plan (ISP). Additionally, throughout the school year, private school officials and parents of parentally-placed children with disabilities are invited to contact a district representative by telephone or email if they have any related questions.

Glenn Haupt, Executive Director, HVED
507-452-1200
ghaupt@hved.org

5. Where, how, and by whom will special education and related services be provided to parentally-placed private school children with disabilities?

School districts are required to offer a free appropriate public education to children with disabilities who are enrolled in its public schools. Parents have the right to choose to send their child to a private school. However, no parentally placed private school child with a disability has an individual right to receive some or all of the special education and related services that the child would receive if enrolled in a public school. Consequently, if parents choose to send their child to a private school, the child may receive no direct special education services from the school district or the services may be limited.

In consultation with representatives of private schools and parents of children with disabilities, decisions about how and where special education services will be provided are made on a case-by-case basis with consideration being given to the individual needs and circumstances of the child with a disability. The school district may choose to provide the services at a private school site, including a religious school, but the district is not required to do so. One of the many factors that the district may consider is whether providing services at the private school site will minimize the need for transportation and the disruption to the educational program of all children receiving services.

When special education and related services are provided to parentally placed private school children with disabilities, they will be provided by qualified personnel. Such personnel will typically be employed and assigned by the school district. In some circumstances, however, the district may contract with qualified personnel who are not employees of the district.

6. How will the proportionate share of federal funds to be used for parentally placed private school children with disabilities be determined and calculated?

School districts receive federal Part B funds to enhance programs for students with disabilities. Districts are required to spend a proportionate share of these funds on parentally placed private school students with disabilities. The proportionate share will be determined by multiplying the number of parental placed private school students with the average amount of federal funds allocated by the federal government for all the district's students with disabilities.

Example

Number of private school		District's Part B allocation ÷ Child Count
Students with Disabilities		10,000 ÷ 25 = $400
	3	X $400 = $1200

The private school's proportionate share would be $1200. Therefore the public school would have $1200 to spend on special education services to the three enrolled students with disabilities.

7. What types of services may be provided?

The special education services that the district provides to private school children with disabilities may include all types of direct and indirect services, including transportation services. Indirect services may include, but are not limited to, assisting with the professional development of private school teachers who work with children with disabilities and providing consultation to assist private school personnel in meeting the needs of children with disabilities.

Special education services, including student specific materials and equipment, must be secular, neutral, and non-ideological. The school district must control the funds used to provide special education services and have title to all materials, equipment, and property purchased with the funds. The district must administer the funds and property and ensure they are used for the purpose of providing services to parentally placed private school children with disabilities.

8. If the school district disagrees with the views of a private school official on the provision of services or the types of services that will be provided, what information will be provided to the private school official?

In the event of a disagreement between a private school official and the district, the district will provide a written explanation of the reasons why it chose not to provide services directly or through a contract.

Re: Identification of Students with Disabilities

I am writing to explain your rights under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act (IDEA 2004) which requires public school districts to identify children in non-public schools who have disabilities within its school district's boundaries.

Should you perceive that your child has a disability and is not making satisfactory academic, social behavioral, and/or communicative progress and has a substantial limitation in the areas of learning and communicating, you may seek a screening and evaluation through the public school whose boundaries contain the private school your child attends. The evaluation will be designed to determine whether or not your child has a disability as defined by special education eligibility criteria in Minnesota Rules (MR) 3525. For children with disabilities who are found eligible to receive special education services, parents will be invited to participate on a planning team that will review the information and propose services. The process is as follows:

1. You will be invited to attend the planning team meeting at the public school. Representatives from the non-public school will be invited to attend also. The team will review the information presented by your child's teacher, evaluator, and/or other staff. You will also have an opportunity to share information as you deem appropriate.
2. You will receive a written notice of the proposed evaluation for your approval. This notice requires written permission by the parent prior to the public school conducting the evaluation.
3. Once written parental permission is received, then the public school special education staff will conduct your child's evaluation. You will have an opportunity to provide further information about your child's needs as a part of the evaluation.
4. The planning team will complete an Evaluation Summary Report, and they will make a decision regarding your child's eligibility for special education.

Children eligible for special education services under (MR) 3525 will have an Individual Services Plan developed by a planning team of public school special education staff, non-public school staff, and you.

Please see attached brochure for further information and the name and contact information for the Special Education Director serving the public school district in which your private school is located. Please direct your questions and communications between the private school and the public school to the person named in the brochure.

Referral Procedures for Nonpublic Special Education Evaluations

Hiawatha Valley
Education District
Public Schools

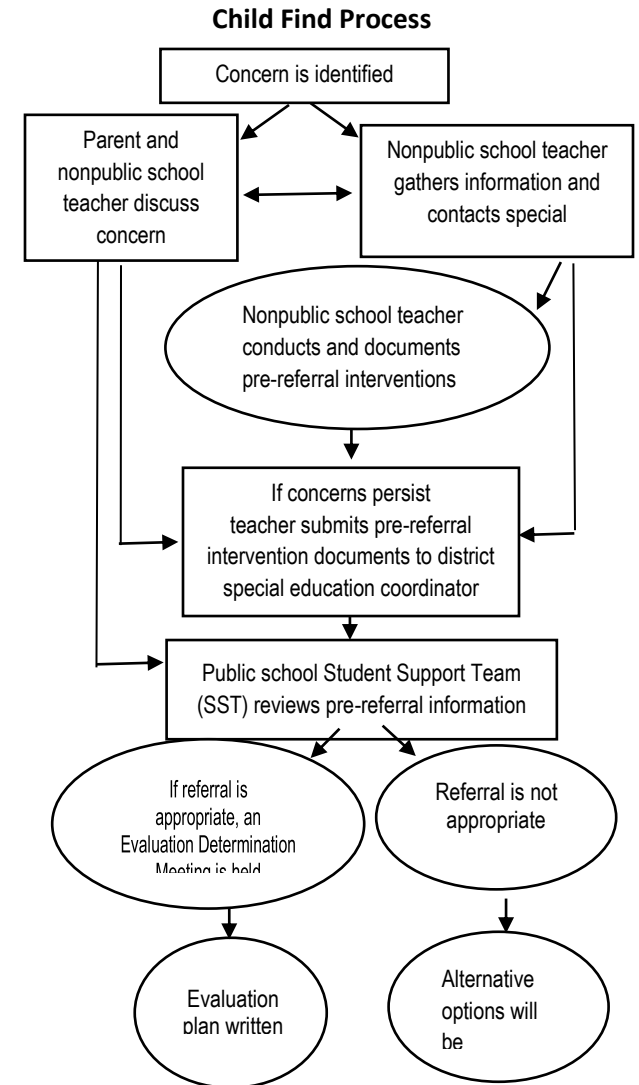

Since 1975, public schools have been responsible for providing special education services to children with disabilities. Part of that obligation is the identification of students with disabilities who are in need of special education and related services. An educational evaluation is conducted to determine if a child meets the state mandated eligibility criteria for disabilities and if the child is in need of special education and related services. The disability areas include:

- Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD)
- Deaf-Blind (DB)
- Deaf and Hard of Hearing (DHH)
- Developmental Cognitive Disability Mild to Moderate or Moderate-Severe (DCD-MM, DCD-MS)
- Early Childhood Special Education (ECSE)
- Emotional or Behavioral Disorders (EBD)
- Other Health Disabilities (OHD)
- Physically Impaired (PI)
- Severely Multiply Impaired (SMI)
- Specific Learning Disability (SLD)
- Speech or Language Impairments (S/LI)
- Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI)
- Visually Impaired (VI)

The purpose of this brochure is to outline the initial referral process used if a parent or teacher suspects that a student between the ages of 5 and 21 may have a disability and needs special education and related services.

Referral Process

- Parent or nonpublic school teacher identifies a concern with the student's academic performance, communication, health/physical status, social/emotional or behavioral skills, motor skills, or functional skills.
- Parent and nonpublic school teacher discuss concern.
- Nonpublic school teacher gathers information on student performance.
- Nonpublic school teacher conducts and documents pre-referral interventions.
- If concerns persist and performance is discrepant from classmates/norms, teacher submits pre-referral interventions and information to the special education director assigned to the District (see back of brochure) in which the nonpublic school is located to initiate referral.
- The public school Child Study Team (CST) reviews pre-referral information and interventions and will contact parent, teacher, and/or principal for additional information or consultation.
- The CST determines whether pre-referral information is adequate. If not, the information is returned to the referring party for completion. The CST determines if an evaluation is needed.
- If evaluation is needed, an evaluation determination meeting is held and an evaluation plan is completed. The plan is shared with parents for their written consent.
- If the referral is inappropriate, alternative options for action will be recommended.

Newspaper Article: Special Education Evaluations for Home-Schooled or Private-School Students

In response to the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act (IDEIA 2004) Minnesota School Districts must demonstrate that "all children with disabilities, including children with disabilities attending private schools, regardless of the severity of their disabilities, and who are in need of special education and related services, are identified, located and evaluated." This responsibility extends to children with disabilities who are educated at home or in nonpublic schools.

Upon request, your local public school will provide information to concerned parents on specific disabilities including information about the educational or behavioral characteristics of each disability. Parents who believe their child may indeed have a disability may request information on how to arrange for an evaluation through the district's special education staff.

Parents of students who are evaluated and are found to be eligible for special education services will become part of a team which will develop, implement, and monitor the effectiveness of a Service Plan to meet the identified needs of their children.

If you have questions or would like to receive information about specific disabilities or evaluation, please contact the principal of the school building your child would be attending if he/she was enrolled in public school. Your school district is committed to success for all learners.

Parental Rights for Homeless Children

The Hiawatha Valley Education District is in compliance with the McKinney-Vento Act and will help to provide a free and appropriate public education for students who are homeless.

Parental Rights

1. School districts are required to keep students in their schools of origin to the extent feasible unless it is against the parent or guardian's wishes.
2. School districts must provide transportation to the school of origin at the request of the parent or guardian.
3. If a student is sent to a school other than requested by parent or guardian, the school must provide a written explanation of its decision and the right to appeal.
4. Schools must immediately enroll students in homeless situations, even if they do not have required documents such as school records, medical records, proof of residency, or other documents.
5. Enrolling schools must obtain school records from the previous school. Students must be enrolled while records are obtained.
6. The school district's liaison must immediately assist in obtaining immunizations or record of immunization or other medical records for those students who do not have them. Students must be enrolled.
7. A child or youth who is homeless and is attending any school in the district is eligible for Title I services.
8. School districts must reserve funds as necessary to serve homeless children who do not attend participating schools – in shelters and other locations where they may live.
9. A variety of services to students who are homeless may be provided including:
 - school supplies
 - supplemental instruction
 - counseling
 - transportation
10. Children will not be segregated or stigmatized on the basis of their state of homelessness.
